

MOVING OPTIONS

Moving a pastor and family can be a daunting challenge for both a local church and their new pastor. It is customary for a church to pay for the relocation of a new pastor. Churches are expected to provide the moving costs (truck, gasoline, etc.) for a new pastor to relocate to their new assignment. Here are some options to help you in that process.

Option A: ABF Truckline

Two of our most recent transitions in the region chose this option- both moving over long distances to Central Region.

Option B: Pastor secures truck from Penske, U-Haul, etc. and packs and loads truck. When they arrive, have an unloading party to assist them getting in their new home.

Option C: Church secures a truck(s) and goes to the location of the pastor- loads, moves, and unloads their belongings in a new location.

Option D: Hire a moving service i.e. Two Men and a Truck (least expensive) or another professional grade mover. These services have not been used to this point in the region as they are pricey. However, it is an option.
